About Me

What I Do at MSK

- Chief, Breast Service, Department of Surgery
- Anne Burnett Windfohr Chair of Clinical Oncology

Get To Know Me

I am a surgical oncologist with a practice dedicated to the care of people with breast cancer. I treat all types of the disease and most stages, except metastatic breast cancer that has spread beyond the breast and lymph nodes.

My goal is to make sure that my patients and their loved ones understand their treatment options by taking the time to answer all their questions. I help them make informed decisions that will lead to the best possible outcomes. It's important that they feel confident about their treatment plan and the devoted team of specialists at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center who will take care of them.

When patients first come to see me, they are often scared because they have been told they have a potentially life-threatening disease, or perhaps because they are afraid of being disfigured. Many newly diagnosed patients are also confused because there is so much information out there about breast cancer, some of which is incorrect, that it is hard for them to figure out what applies to them and what does not.
