A horizontal sequence of 24 dark gray squares arranged in a single row. The 13th square from the left is white, creating a visual cue for the user to identify the correct input position.

A horizontal sequence of black squares. The first two groups of four squares each are filled black. The third group of four squares is outlined in black but filled white, containing a large black question mark.

A horizontal sequence of 24 dark gray squares arranged in a single row. A vertical line segment is positioned below the 13th square from the left, extending downwards and to the right.

A sequence of 40 dark gray squares arranged in four horizontal rows. The fourth row contains a vertical line segment at its right end, followed by the number '2' centered below it.

A horizontal sequence of black squares representing a digital signal. The sequence is divided into four groups by vertical lines. The first group has 6 squares, the second has 7, the third has 6, and the fourth has 1 square followed by a dash.

A horizontal sequence of 40 dark gray square blocks arranged in four rows. The top row contains 10 blocks. The second row contains 11 blocks, with the last block being lighter gray. The third row contains 10 blocks. The bottom row contains 11 blocks, with the last block being lighter gray.

The image consists of five horizontal rows of black squares. Each row contains 10 squares. The first row has all 10 squares filled. The second row has the last square unfilled. The third row has the last two squares unfilled. The fourth row has the last three squares unfilled. The fifth row has the last four squares unfilled. This visual representation likely corresponds to a sequence of binary digits or a specific data pattern.
