About Me

What I Do at MSK

■ Associate Attending Physician

Get To Know Me

I am a board-certified specialist in internal medicine who joined Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in 2011. I am a career academic hospitalist — a physician who specializes in the comprehensive care of people while they are in the hospital.

My current focus is on the care of people with gastrointestinal cancers. I am responsible for coordinating their clinical care and management throughout their entire stay in the hospital — from admission to the inpatient medical ward until they leave the hospital. I am also interested in hospital quality initiatives, as well as palliative care and hospice medicine. I help patients and families navigate the complex nature of end-of-life issues.
