I am responsible for managing the care of patients on the Bone Marrow Transplant Service who are receiving an outpatient autologous transplant, or who have already received an allogeneic transplant. In addition to medical management of these patients, I order treatment medications, provide lab interpretation, and generate prescriptions.

I joined Memorial Sloan Kettering as a clinical nurse in 1991. Through the years, I worked with both the surgical and medical services. I transitioned to the role of nurse practitioner on the Bone Marrow Transplant Service's border unit in 2011 after starting out on the bone marrow transplant team as a clinical nurse specialist.
