

Call! Don't Fall! for Pediatric Patients

This information explains what you can do to keep your child from falling and keep them safe while they're in the hospital.

- Do not let your child ride on their IV pole.
- If your child is under the age of 2 or if they use a crib at home, they must use a crib in the hospital.
- Speak to your nurse about your child's medicines. Certain medicines increase your child's risk of falling.
- Do not let your child lean on furniture that has wheels, such as their overbed table, bedside table, and IV pole.
- Do not let your child wear slippers without backs, slippers without nonskid soles, or flip-flops. Ask your nursing assistant or nurse for socks with treads for your child.
- If your child has glasses or a hearing aid, make sure they wear them when they're awake.
- If your child wears special braces or uses other assistive devices (such as a walker, wheelchair, or cane), make sure they're available for your child to use.
- Call for help right away if you see any spills on the floor.
- Make sure your child uses the grab bars in the bathroom and railings in the hallway, if needed.
- Call for help when your child needs to get out of bed or up from a chair, if needed.
- Help us make sure we:
 - Turn on a night light before it gets dark.
 - Place your child's call button where they can reach it.
 - Place items your child may need (such as their books or glasses) where they can reach them.
 - Raise your child's top bedrail to keep them safe.
 - Get rid of any clutter from around your child's bedside and chairside.
