

PATIENT & CAREGIVER EDUCATION

Meeting the Challenges of Life after Cancer

Finishing treatment for cancer can bring about unexpected emotions. Patients often express feelings of fear, anxiety, and sadness just when they and their family and friends expect to feel joy. This presentation will review some of the common emotional and practical concerns that can surface when treatment is over, and discuss effective ways of addressing these concerns that can help with the transition back into day-to-day life after treatment ends. Both patients and caregivers are welcome to join this online program. A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

Facilitators: Barbara Golby, LCSW, and Kimarie Knowles, LCSW

Contact

Registration for this event is required. To register or learn more, please contact VirtualPrograms@mskcc.org.