Stress Urinary Incontinence: A Guide for Women

This information from International Urogynecological Association (IUGA) explains the causes of stress urinary incontinence. It also explains how to diagnose and treat incontinence and how the bladder works.

If you have questions or concerns, contact your healthcare provider. A member of your care team will answer Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Outside those hours, you can leave a message or talk with another MSK provider. There is always a doctor or nurse on call. If you're not sure how to reach your healthcare provider, call 212-639-2000.
