will be most effective for you. Our prostate cancer medical oncologists have led the way in the development of many hormonal and systemic therapies for advanced prostate cancer.

Many patients prefer to receive their care closer to home, and for them we have prostate cancer experts based at our regional sites in Long Island, New Jersey, and Westchester County as well as in Manhattan. Our state-of-the-art regional outpatient centers offer diagnostic services, some pre- and post-surgical care, chemotherapy and radiation treatments, and follow-up care.

The physicians at our regional facilities work closely with clinical researchers in Manhattan, allowing patients who get their treatments outside our main campus to participate in selected clinical trials.
