CyberLibrary Café, Zuckerman Research Center, Monday - Friday, 8:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Renewal is at the discretion of library staff, and varies with demand. Laptops may only be used inside the Nathan Cummings Center or CyberLibrary. Taking a laptop outside of these areas is not permitted.

Employee Health & Wellness Services

Employee Health & Wellness Services (EH&WS) provides annual required TB testing for our students and physical examinations for new students. EH&WS also provides annual flu vaccines to students. If you become ill during your training, you should notify the program director or clinical supervisor. Program director will arrange an appointment for the student with the EH&WS and prepare a referral note.

Employee Health & Wellness Services announces an expansion of hours at a new satellite location in Room MG03 at the Main Campus, 1275 York Avenue. EH&WS will now be open all day on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Main Location:

Employee Health Service
222 East 70th Street
New York, NY 10021
646-888-4000

Employee Assistance Program Consortium (EAPC)

The Employee Assistance Program Consortium (EAPC) is a confidential, short-term counseling and referral service that is available free of charge to students of the School of Radiation Therapy. Counselors are available Monday through Friday 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Additional hours can be arranged by appointment.

The purpose of this program is to give students the opportunity to help themselves cope with problems that may be adversely affecting them. Employee confidence in the trustworthiness of the EAPC staff plays a key role in the program's success, and the EAPC will protect your confidentiality.

Services offered include problem identification, short-term therapy, crisis intervention, consultation, and referral for a broad range of problems.

Call the EAPC for confidential assistance if you are experiencing any of the following:

Emotional or psychological problems, such as depression, anxiety, or feelings of loss
Relationship, marital or interpersonal problems

- Family problems that may be related to single parenting, care of elderly parents, or domestic violence
- Substance abuse problems related to alcoholism or drug's. The EAPC offers confidential referrals to treatment programs.
- Legal problems
- Financial problems, such as debt management
- Job or school performance problems
- Health concerns
- Eating disorders or other concerns related to your body image
- Any other concerns for which you might need professional assistance

For your convenience and privacy the EAPC is located off hospital grounds in a residential building. The EAPC is located at Phipps House (first floor), 445 East 68th Street (at York Avenue), New York, NY, 10021. You can reach the EAPC by phone, at 212-746-5890, or by email at EAPC@med.cornell.edu.

Academic & Clinical Assistance

Didactic instructors make a concerted effort to provide additional assistance to those students needing reinforcement activity. All didactic instructors provide their contact information so students may request assistance. In addition, the program director and clinical supervisor are available for didactic, clinical assistance, and/or tutoring upon the student's request.
