About Me

What I Do at MSK

- Head, Breast Imaging Ultrasound

Get To Know Me

I am a board-certified diagnostic radiologist specializing in oncologic breast and body imaging. I use a suite of techniques to analyze the presence of disease within the body, including MRI, CT, ultrasound, and mammography. In addition to non-invasive imaging, I perform minimally-invasive biopsies of the breast and thyroid to help diagnose patients by using mammographic, sonographic, and MRI guidance.

I also work with the oncologic surgery team prior to breast surgery to identify the location of lesions within the breast through the use of radioactive seed localization and wire localization. I am a member of the Breast Disease Management and the Hepatopancreaticobiliary Disease Management Teams.
