Spotlight On Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemias | 2015

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is directed towards physicians and allied health professionals who care for patients with lymphoid malignancies including:

- Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (ALL)
- Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia (CLL) and/or small lymphocytic lymphoma (SLL)
- Hairy Cell Leukemia (HCL)

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

There will be ample time for questions and discussions throughout the day.

1. Improve the understanding of contemporary treatments for ALL, CLL, and HCL, particularly with regards to immunotherapy and kinase inhibitor therapies.
2. Gain insight into experimental therapeutic options for patients with these disorders including novel immunotherapeutic approaches, transplantation, and small molecule inhibitors.
3. Recognize the key molecular drivers of ALL, CLL, and HCL as well as appropriate testing for response and resistance to therapy.
